Annual Meeting of Agricultural Society

Didsbury Receives Nearly Maximum of Points for Exhibition

Notices have been sent out to members of the Didsbury Agricultural Society for the annual meeting of the Society which is to be held in G. Wrigglesworth's old office, north of the North End Livery barn, on Wednesday, December 3rd, at 2 p. m. The business to be transacted is very important to the whole district, one of the main items being the election of officers for the ensuing year. The Secretary, Mr. G. Wrigglesworth, who has held the position of Secretary for the last few years, has stated that he is unable to accept the position again for business reasons over which he has no control, and this is a very important office.

The pronounced success of the Society which attended their efforts in conducting the annual Fair this year should be an incentive to the organization as a whole to still further efforts in promoting the work of encouraging the dairying, live stock and numerous other lines of agricultural endeavor in the district, and it must be remembered that this meeting in which all members have a right to express their opinion and make suggestions is the foundation for future success.

It will interest both exhibitors and the public to know that reports of the judges of the live stock Departments have been received by Mr. Wrigglesworth from P. R. Talbot, Superintendent of the Fairs Branch of the provincial Department of Agriculture, which are exceedingly encouraging because of the high marks given in each department.

The total maximum points which can be given to any exhibition are 100. The units are ten for each department except for support by exhibitors and management of Fair which is fifteen each. The horse judges gave full marks of 10; cattle 10; swine and sheep 6; domestic products and ladies work 10; support of exhibitors 13.

The management of the Fair comes in for the highest points receiving the full total of 15 which should be encouraging to the gentlemen who so successfully conducted the Exhibition this year. Other departments received fairly good marks excepting grounds and equipment which received about the lowest. The total points given for the Fair was 86, which should be considered pretty good.

There are two criticisms given by the judges for the welfare of the exhibition which should be noted. One is that accommodation for stock was very poor, and the other that greater promptness should be shown in getting exhibits on the grounds.

Show an interest in your Society by attending the annual meeting and be a booster from the beginning of the year. Do not wait until exhibition time and then complain if things do not go as you think they should. The Agricultural Society should be an all round organization all the year round, not only just at Exhibition time. There are lots of things that the Society could take up for the welfare of the Agricultural community besides the exhibition during the year but the officers should have a good live membership to carry on the work. Come to the annual meeting on December 3rd.

"THE VICAR OF WAKEFIELD"

There are two dramatizations of the book in the form of motion pictures. One of these was produced in England, the other in America. The latter is considered the better of the two, with the eminent character actor, Frederick Warde as the "Vicar". The negative is now owned by the University Extension Association and by kindness of that body, the Department of Extension of the University of Alberta has been enabled to secure a copy of this excellent film subject. There are seven 1000 foot reels taking two and a quarter hours to show.

"The Vicar of Wakefield" will be shown in the Opera House this Friday under the auspices of the Didsbury High School Literary Society. A good crowd is expected at this show. Reduced prices.

DAYS OF LONG AGO

"The Covered Wagon" a picture of life on the prairies

The old days so famous for adventure and down in history as the days of the birth of the American nation, have been turned back and are with us again in "The Covered Wagon," James Cruze's latest Paramount picture being shown in the Didsbury Opera House on Wednesday, December 3rd. The great stretch of the western plains forms a most magnificent background, and five hundred or more covered wagons or "prairie schooners," add greatness to this colossal picture. It is a thrilling love tale of the desert wastes, long and enduring with its thrilling climax and eclipses anything in pictures.

Much Needed Reforms

The time of year approaches when, as a rule, the Legislatures of the several Provinces are called in annual session, and, within a couple of months, the Dominion Parliament will be in session. In fact, some of the Legislatures, including that of Saskatchewan, are now sitting. The time is opportune, therefore, to again press for action in regard to a matter which has on previous occasions been the subject of comment in this column. We refer to the unnecessarily large membership in most of our Legislative bodies, and to the equally unnecessarily large and unwise sessional indemnities paid these members.

Canada does not require approximately one thousand Senators, Members of Parliament and M.L.A.'s to direct its Federal and Provincial legislative and administrative work, nor should it be necessary to pay quite so many millions of dollars annually to public-spirited men to direct the affairs of this Dominion as representatives of the whole people.

At the last session of the Saskatchewan Legislature a resolution, was adopted in favor of a reduction in membership when the subject of a redistribution of representation again came up for consideration. The present session is the fifth of the existing Legislature and there is a strong probability it will be the last, and, as a rule, redistribution, when it is necessary, precedes dissolution. Regardless of the fact whether dissolution is impending in Saskatchewan or not, it is to be hoped that the pious resolution of a year ago will be translated into effective action now, and Saskatchewan thus lead the way in the direction of smaller legislative bodies, and a consequent welcome relief of the over-burdened taxpayer.

While it is easier to create new Provinces and new Legislatures than it is to merge two existing Provinces into one, because in the process of amalgamation so many conflicting interests have to be reconciled, the fact remains that, so far as the three Prairie Provinces and the three Maritime Provinces are concerned, each of these groups have so much in common that one Provincial Legislature in the West and one down by the sea could just as efficiently, and much more economically, legislate for and administer Provincial affairs as can the six separate bodies now in existence. Because the problems involved in amalgamation are difficult, constitutes no valid reason why their solution should not be attempted.

Reduction in the amount of indemnities paid is much easier of attainment than reduction in the number of constituencies. All that is required is the consent of the present members. Indemnities to Members of Parliament and of Legislatures were first intended, as the word itself indicates, to constitute a reasonable reimbursement for out of pocket expenses connected with the discharge of public duties attached to these positions, rather than what it has come to mean, namely, an annual salary.

Just prior to and during the late war, when the purchasing power of the dollar rapidly declined, there was a steady increase in the amounts fixed as "sessional indemnities." The war is over, and the dollar has regained some, if not all, of its former purchasing power, but indemnities still remain at the old war figure. It is time they began to decline and were brought down to a level where they more nearly approximate to actual out of pocket expenses of members both at Ottawa and the various Provincial capitals.

While holding the view that members should be indemnified for expenses incurred by reason of their public position, we much doubt the wisdom of paying what amounts to substantial salaries. It would be a mistake to make our legislative bodies a preserve for only men of means and leisure and practically bar from membership hard working men and women of small means. But a reasonable indemnity provides the necessary safeguard against any such development.

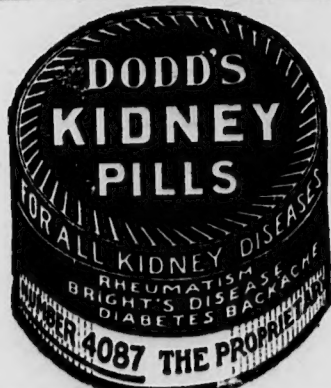

On the other hand, large indemnities have a tendency to attract men for the sake of the salary rather than to render public service to the state. It has been said that the personnel of our Parliament and Legislatures has declined coincident with the advance in the so-called indemnities. Whether this is true or not, danger lies in that direction. Not only so, but once elected it is only human for a member to seriously consider the effect his vote may have on some important and grave issue. In precipitating an election before the legal term of Parliament or Legislature has expired, and thereby possibly removing him from legislative halls and a substantial salary, not to mention other perquisites of his public position.

With elections not far distant in the Dominion arena and several of the Provinces, the powers that be would not be guilty of making a tactical blunder with the voters at large if they proceeded to reduce both the number of members elected and the size of the indemnities to be paid. It is doubtful if many present members would care to face their constituents in opposition to such much needed reforms.

Bread Prices Increase

Canada Feeling Effect of Reduced Wheat Supplies

Canadian housewives have begun to realize the effect of reduced wheat supplies. Nineteen different cities have reported to the department of labor an increase in the cost of bread. The increase is generally one cent a loaf of twenty-four ounces, although in some cases, the increase is the second since wheat prices began to soar.

Miller's Worm Powders work so effectively that no traces of worms can be found. The pests pass away in the stools without being perceptible. They make an entire and clean sweep of the intestines, and nothing in the shape of a worm can find lodgement there when these powders are in operation. Nothing could be more thorough or desirable than their action.

Argentina Passes Good Law

"Pensions For Everybody" Is Idea Being Worked Out

Argentina, which is becoming one of the world's great nations, with a population of nine millions, and with one of the world's greatest and richest cities as its capital, has passed a law to create pensions for everybody.

The full details have not been arranged, but the law provides in principle for the compulsory formation of provident funds to which both employers and employed are to contribute certain sums by monthly instalments.

The chief object is to provide all workers with pensions after they have done thirty years' work.

Canada's Trade Abroad

New Markets Being Opened Up Continually For Our Products

Canada's sales in Oriental countries 25 years ago were less than $500,000 a year, but last year Japan took $244 worth of goods for every dollar she took then. China took $51 worth for every dollar taken in 1900. Greece is a country that bought only $2,332 of Canadian products from Canada in 1900, whereas last year she took over $6,000,000. In that year little Switzerland took but $385 worth of commodities; last year she took $1,289,000. Belgium last year took $20 worth for every dollar's worth in 1900.

Thanks For the Press

Prince of Wales Says Success of Wembley Exhibition Largely Due To Publicity Given

The Prince of Wales, in his capacity of president of the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley, which closed recently, has forwarded a letter to the Duke of Devonshire, who was one of the chief sponsors of the big fair, requesting him to convey to the press of the Empire his sincere gratitude for the patriotic assistance they gave in the exhibition. The Prince declared that it was to the encouragement of the press that the success of the fair was largely attributable.

PALE ANAEMIC GIRLS

Find New Health Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

There must be no guesswork in the treatment of pale, anaemic girls and children. If your daughter is languid, has a pale, sallow complexion, is short of breath after slight exertion or on going up stairs, if she has palpitation of the heart, a poor appetite, or a tendency to faint, she has anaemia—the medical name for poverty of the blood. Any delay in treatment may leave her weak and sickly for the rest of her life. Delay may even result in consumption, that most hopeless of diseases. When the blood is poor and watery give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, coupled with nourishing food and gentle out-of-door exercise. The new, life-giving blood which follows a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills stimulates the nerves, increases the appetite and brings the glow of health to pale cheeks. Mrs. W. E. Armour, Havelock, Ont., says:—"My little girl got into a very poor state of health. She was weak, very much run-down, and as the doctor did not seem to do her any good, I thought I would try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking six boxes of the pills she got nice and rosy and strong again. I would recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to anyone weak and run-down."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

U. S. MAY CALL CONFERENCE ON DISARMAMENT

Washington.—The prevailing view in Washington is that if the League of Nations abandons its proposed disarmament conference, President Coolidge will call another conference dealing with reduction of land and naval armament. Although the White House has not announced any intention to do this since news came of the British action with regard to the Geneva protocol on security and disarmament, feeling here is that President Coolidge will be forced to act. It is felt that his earlier utterances have made it impossible for him to avoid calling such a conference.

Geneva.—Great Britain's request that the coming session of the League of Nations in Rome should not take up the question of the Geneva protocol on security and disarmament, will mean adjournment of the arm conference until 1926, with the possibility of a revision of the protocol itself at the next assembly meeting. It is deemed in official circles here, officials, however, are careful to insist that postponement does not mean abandonment, emphasizing that it is best to proceed slowly.

Britain Is Expecting Reduction In Postage

Possible Now That Postmaster-General's Department Shows Surplus

London.—An insistent demand is being made for the restoration of penny postage in this country, and it is believed that the demand proceeds from an intelligent surmise that the postal revenue will now permit of such reduction that the postmaster-general will be quite agreeable thereto.

The new postmaster-general comes into office with an encouraging balance, which leads to the hope that the return of the penny postage may come soon.

Veterans Will Ask For Wider Scope

Think Pensions Appeal Board Should Have More Latitude

Ottawa.—"We are going to ask at the coming session of parliament for the enactment of the legislation granting the right to enter appeals before the board of appeals from all decisions of the board of pension commissioners and department of soldiers' civil re-establishment," stated C. Grant McNeil, secretary of the Dominion command of the Great War Veterans' Association.

At the present time appeals lie on questions concerning the origin of the man's disability.

Study U.S. Farm Problems

Washington.—After deciding to give co-operative marketing and conditions in the cattle industry priority in their study of agricultural problems, with a view to having definite conclusions as to these ready for legislative action during the session of congress which convenes next month, the president's agricultural commission recessed after its third session, probably until January.

Bill Aimed At Chinese

Victoria, B.C.—Employment of Orientals and white girls together in the homes of British Columbia will not be allowed if a bill, notice of which was given in the legislature by Mrs. Ralph Smith, Liberal, Vancouver, passes. ## Alberta To Have Sugar Beet Factory

Southern Part of Province Good For Beet Raising

Salt Lake City.—The Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, of Salt Lake, will erect a new beet sugar factory in Southern Alberta, Canada, in the near future, and the one in the Yakima Valley, Eastern Washington, will be discontinued, according to announcement by company officials here. The Yakima Valley plant is considered located in poor sugar beet producing territory, and the prospects in Alberta are declared good for beet raising. How much will be spent in construction of the Alberta factory was not made known.

South Africa Will Exhibit Next Year

Government Decides to Again Participate in British Empire Show

Capetown.—South Africa will again participate in the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley next year, announcement to this effect having just been made by the Hertzog Government. This is a reversal of the South African Government's decision of October, when it was announced it would not exhibit at Wembley in 1925.

The governments of New Zealand and Ceylon are now the only ones who have decided definitely not to repeat their exhibits at Wembley next year. So far India is apathetic on the matter.

Winter Fair Exhibits Increase

Seed Exhibit in Toronto Greatest on Continent Is Claim

Toronto.—Exhibits in the dairy products and seeds at the Royal Winter Fair were so large and competition so keen the judges were unable to complete their task as quickly as usual, and results in only a few of the seed competitions were announced the first day. The seed exhibition is trouble that of last year and is said to be the greatest on the American continent.

Every province is represented in dairy products which constitutes a record.

Discuss Trade Treaty Between Britain and Germany

London.—The negotiations between Germany and Great Britain for a commercial treaty have reached a stumbling block over the question of the 26 per cent. levy on German exports under the Reparation Recovery Act. The British Government is understood to be unwilling to cancel the levy while the Germans are demanding that it be abolished before a satisfactory treaty can be drawn up. The negotiations otherwise are proceeding so smoothly that British officials expect Germany will probably recede from her stand to the extent of agreeing to discuss the levy with the other matters connected with the proposed treaty.

Plan To Kill Sirdar

Major-General Sir Lee Stack Victim Of Assassins' Bullets

Cairo, Egypt.—Six or more gunmen, using both bombs and automatic pistols, created a sensation in the streets of Cairo by attacking Major-General Sir Lee Stack, Sirdar of the Egyptian army, and in whose person is combined the biggest civil and military positions in the Sudan. Three bullets hit General Stack as he was being driven in an automobile from the war ministry down the Sharia Kaar El-Aini. ## Early Court Hearing On Crow's Nest Case

Premier King Will Facilitate Appeal to Supreme Court

Ottawa.—Premier Mackenzie King, while stating that there will be no action by the government regarding the Crow's Nest case after the hearing on December 4, indicated that an early pronouncement by the courts as well as the cabinet is most desirable. There is no doubt that if the appellant provinces in getting leave to appeal to the Supreme Court, wish the case heard in December, it will be.

CANADA SOON TO HAVE A MINISTER IN WASHINGTON

New York.—Canada will have a minister in Washington in the near future, Hon. George P. Graham, minister of railways, declared in replying to the toast to Canada, which was proposed by Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States, at the annual dinner of the Canadian Club.

After a reference to the close relationship and interlocking interests of Canada and the United States, Mr. Graham said:

"It will not be very many months until Canada will have a representative at Washington."

In proposing the toast to Canada, Sir Esme Howard said:

"I raise my glass to drink to Canada—the first of the free partners of our Empire, to her continued prosperity and happiness and to the magnificent future which, I am sure, awaits her in years to come."

"Complete liberty to each individual dominion as to its development with hearty co-operation among them all and the Empire in matters of world policy is the only policy through which the Empire will be able to 'hold together' and exert its influence in the world," Sir Esme said.

"Canada, especially," he said, "by reason of her position as an American power, will have an exceptional position and play an exceptionally important part in the future development in the British Empire."

"It will be for her," he added, "to interpret to the rest of us the feelings and the attitude of this great American republic, with whom we not only desire but intend to live in the most cordial friendship and in peace in the future."

FINISHED IF NOT POLISHED

Right—The first lift.
Below—Fifty miles an hour over the "finished" road-bed—smooth riding and dust-proof.

In the opinion of the expert railroad builder the world probably does not contain a perfect piece of track. The best of them approach perfection, and when they do so, as nearly as human ingenuity and the expenditure of much money can carry them, they are called "finished," and that is the term Canadian Pacific officials are applying to the company's lines between Montreal and Toronto and to many other stretches of Canadian Pacific track in various parts of Canada.

It is rock-ballasting that is the final touch in modern railroad track construction, and in rock-ballasting this particular stretch of main line three to four hundred men have been engaged for the past four years. The Montreal-Toronto line is an important one. The traffic rolling over it grows heavier year by year, and when rock ballasting was first contemplated the need for heavier steel was foreseen. Thus, before anything else could be done, the existing rails had to be taken up and replaced by those weighing one hundred pounds to the yard. Then, before the actual rock-ballasting began, this three hundred odd miles of track had to be provided with special draining facilities which called for many miles of tiling, after which the big job commenced.

First of all, it was necessary to find the right kind of rock for the work. Any rock would not do. After many tests a quarry was found at Deeks, Ontario, which yielded hard lime-stone or dolomite, and it took thirty-five thousand car-loads of this to complete the work, in actual weight well over two million tons. The actual placing of the ballast was a big undertaking. The old ballast had first to be removed. For that purpose a "spreader" went over it digging out the earth and gravel on either side of the track down to the level of the bottom of the ties. A gang of men followed to shovel out the gravel between the ties and then came car-loads of new stone ballast, already screened and graded as to size, to be dumped in the corner of the track. The gang that followed raised the track four or five inches and tamped the stone solidly underneath every tie. That was the first lift and then followed other car loads of stone and another gang gave the track another lift and again tamped the stone underneath, so that every tie had a good eight inches of stone between it and the clay bed of the track. More stone followed and then came the trimming and surfacing gang and the job was finished.

All the time this work was going on many passengers and freight trains were passing over the line every day. Their running was not interfered with in the slightest degree, a fact which greatly complicated the matter in hand, notwithstanding which it was finished to the entire satisfaction of the Company's officers, which is to say that the construction now completed is typical of the most recent developments in high grade passenger track constructions. Another stretch of track which received similar attention this year is the Company's line between Montreal and Ottawa.

A Visit to Damascus

HARRY C. MOFFETT

Mr. Moffet of Cincinnati, Ohio, has Spent Several Years in Relief Work in The Near East

Damascus, the city of magic, of mystery, of peril. Who knows what the future holds of impending tragedy, death and suffering for those within its ancient walls mysterious, brooding and mystical. Veritably it is the frontier of the East.

Here is the last weak line of occupation by Occidental armies of a Moslem country. Here the tension of centuries-old conflict between two great religions is at its greatest. Back of Damascus is the great desert of Arabia and the now almost impenetrable country of Islam awakening to great power and intolerance of oppression by those not of the same faith. Before, and in Damascus, the French army is nervously endeavoring to maintain a paternal and orderly government, one that will be fair and unbiased to all the population, insuring life and protection to the unfortunate thousands of Christian Greek and Armenian refugees in the city, exiled from Turkey just across the border to the north. And this is Damascus, fascinating, perilous, entrancingly Oriental, and now amazingly crowded with suffering, despairing, hungering Christian refugees.

Here in this city, far down the Street called Straight in the Christian quarter, near the great and terribly congested refugee camps, I found three consecrated Christian missionaries carrying on their work of mercy and love. I visited with them, and shared their simple, but nicely prepared dinner, talked with them about their work, and attended one of the comforting spiritual services held for the children from the nearby refugee camp. I learned they have no great relief funds, and carry on no wholesale

Crossed Atlantic Unafraid

Little Samuel Molyneux arrives

A very pathetic figure, as he stepped off the Canadian Pacific train, between the conductor and an official of the department of immigration, into the noise of shunting trains, the confusion of hurrying express trucks, and the bustle that attends the arrival and departure of friends, Samuel Molyneux, 393 Oakwood Avenue, Toronto, as the label on his little bag proclaimed him, paused for a moment, and then, overcome by a sense of loneliness produced by the loss of his friends of ship-board and train, burst into tears. A second later he was seized by his mother, from whom he had been separated for one and a half of his four years, and sobbed himself to contentment in her arms.

Samuel came to Canada on the Montclare, making the complete trip from the old land to Toronto by himself. Samuel was a favorite on ship-board, according to reports. He became particularly attached to the ship's nurse but was the pet of all the passengers and crew.

(Serial Rights Arranged Through
F. D. Goodchild, Publishers,

Exercising the utmost caution, he worked his way eastward until he crouched opposite an exaggerated "ant hill" of activity, undoubtedly the scene of major operations. There were three sluices here, near a bench that had been shattered by a recent explosion. No crew of white miners could have shown greater industry or fewer lost motions than the natives at work there. And as below, he saw no sign of a white oppressor.

Then, from a tent near the Indian encampment, there emerged a brawny man who answered the O'Malleys' description of Bonnemort, the who nearly had done for Hart. Six feet two or three and built from the soles up, he stood looking over the busy scene.

In a flash, Seymour recognized the red-headed man who had insisted on sending wine to the young Mounties in that Montreal cabaret. Something of a change of scene, this; but not so surprising in Canada—land of far-flung opportunities.

The sergeant surmised this to be the alleged breed's first appearance of the morning. Confirmation came with the appearance of a young squaw bearing a tray of breakfast which she spread on a rough table before the tent. Indeed, this breed must have a "way" with the Siwash, thought the sergeant, to command from them such competent service. From his reserved seat in the brush, he envied him the cup of steaming coffee and, later, the cigar which the autocrat of the wild lighted. This last was particularly tantalizing to one whose pipe must perform remain cold.

Presently came a small man on horseback, all white, puttee-clad, and, on reasonable supposition, one Kluger by name. Dismounted, the new arrival, reputed to be the "brains of the outfit," did not come to his partner's shoulder; but from the rapidity of his movements, Seymour judged that his small frame concealed a dynamo of energy. The two conferred a moment, then started toward the sluice box.

HER NERVES BETTER NOW

Received Much Benefit by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ontario.—"I started to get weak after my second child was born, and kept on getting worse until I could not do my own housework and was so bad with my nerves that I was afraid to stay alone at any time. I had a girl working for me a whole year before I was able to do my washing again. Through a friend I learned of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took four bottles of it. I gave birth to a baby boy the 4th day of September, 1922. I am still doing my own work and washing. Of course, I don't feel well every day because I don't get my rest as the baby is so cross. But when I get my rest I feel fine. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and am going to keep on with it until cured. My nerves are a lot better since taking it. I can stay alone day or night and not be the least frightened. You can use this letter as a testimonial and I will answer letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."

—Mrs. CHARLES CARSON, 27 Forsythe Street, Chatham, Ontario.

Mrs. Carson is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from female troubles.

W. N. U. 1552

Peering from behind the bushes, Seymour felt as though he were watching some well-lighted motion picture. He saw Bonnemort call a couple of Siwash to them; but no word of their conversations reached him.

For an hour he watched them as they directed the morning clean-up of the treasure gathered on the rifles—cross cleats of wood on the bottom of the sluice troughs—from the pay dirt washed the previous day. One departure from the regular placer practice stood out. The gleaners carried two sacks, one twice the size of the other. At every rifle, contributions were made to each.

If this was a division of the yield between the managing sharpers and working owners, it seemed unnecessarily clumsy. Why did it need to be done on the dump in such piecemeal fashion? Both parties to the proceeding seemed satisfied, however. There was no haggling, not even discussion over the division, if such it really was.

In the end, the two whites, between them, carried the larger and heavier sack to Bonnemort's tent, while the two Indians who had made the cleaning carried off the smaller bag to one of their wickiups.

After spending several minutes within the tent, behind closed flaps, the partners came out and started down-stream. Bonnemort walking with long strides beside the mounted Kluger. To the sergeant, the supposition seemed reasonable that they were bound for a clean-up at the lower diggings and that, for a time, the upper creek would be free of whites. He decided upon a bold stroke, the success of which would depend upon how far the Siwash had been taken into confidence.

Going down the creek bank in the brush until he was out of sight of the camp, he gained the trail and started back. He walked as openly as though he belonged to the outfit; stopped at several points to look critically at the work being done, then strode on with a nod or grunt of approval. None challenged his advance; not even a look questioned him. He entered the tent as though he had every right to do so, as, indeed, he had, although it was a right of a different sort than any who observed him might have imagined.

As the canvas flaps fell behind him, he made a rapid survey of the interior—two folding cots with bedding, camp stools, a table built of empty dynamite boxes with the labels of the "Kingdom Come" brand much in evidence, and an improvised clothes horse hung with an assortment of masculine apparel. His particular interest settled on what looked like a carpenter's tool chest, but which, for want of any likelier container, he took to be the camp's treasury box. Without much hope, he stooped and tried the lid. It was locked.

In the act of kneeling to examine this, the tent was suffused in sunlight from the opening of a flap. He straightened and turned as a young squaw entered, her head bound in a bright-colored bandanna. Possibly she was the fastidious Bonnemort's chambermaid, he thought, come to make the bed. His heart was pounding. An alarm would ruin all.

"Klo-howyah!" she greeted the usual Chinook greeting, but evinced no surprise at finding him in the tent. "Don't mind me," he managed to reply with a well assumed assurance, hoping she at least could understand English, even though she did not speak it.

But she spoke it, and to his utter consternation. "Right good make-up if it fools a Mountie," she said with a biting laugh that was controlled not to carry beyond the canvas. "How do you like me as a klootch?"

"Molra!" he whispered.

"None other, Sergeant Searlet."

CHAPTER XXIV.
Tent-Told Tales

Seymour stood and stared at the young woman, marveling at her complete transformation. A right good make-up, she had called it. He could truthfully make the statement stronger. When her eyes were hidden and her voice stilled, all trace of his beloved was gone. She looked as Siwash as though she had been born on the trail of a squaw mother and had passed her babyhood strapped to a board.

The fine lines of her slim young figure were swathed in rags after the fashion of the North Coast native women. Waist line was nil, her makeshift skirt seemed to drop from her shoulders. For a one-piece garment, it certainly was of pieces, patched and pinned and tied together. He doubted if she could step out of it without taking it apart.

To her complexion she had done something to give it a rich copper tinge. The hands were stained to match. Her lips had been thickened with paint lines and over her patrician nose ran a series of blue lines, a counterfeit of the tattooing with which the Argonaut native women disfigure themselves. A finger tied up in a soiled rag added the last touch of verisimilitude.

Recovering from his first shock, Seymour reminded himself of their situation. "Didn't I make it plain yesterday that your coming here was beyond all reason?" he demanded almost petulantly.

"Not so far beyond as myself," she murmured rebelliously. "I'm here, am I not? And you'll find me more reasonable for having had my own way."

She intended following him from the first, she admitted, and for that reason she had watched his descent from the top of the cliff, marking the difficulties he had overcome. After helping her father back to the mission, she had given her evening to make-up and costume. She left home before daybreak.

"Do you mean to say you tip-toed that ledge and made the jump into the fir tree?" he asked incredulously.

She shook her head, flashing him a smile. "I profited by watching you. I came all the way down by rope, bringing an extra coil, ready knotted, from the mission and tying it to the end of yours."

"But you won't be able to fool the squaws!" he observed, again looking troubled.

"Haven't I tried. They think I slipped in to see how they are faring and tagged out as one of them that the whites would not suspect my visit. They seem pleased—perhaps flattered—and will keep my secret."

Seymour did not relish the situation created by her persistence. The girl's presence was a grave complication. It handicapped him just when his investigation was advancing with unexpected smoothness. But now that she was in, his duty was to get her out safely.

"And how are your Indian wards faring?" he asked, by way of gaining time to figure out the safest, most expeditious exit for her.

"They puzzle me for they have no complaint," she answered. "Either conditions have changed or that impostor was sadly misled in his observations. Actually, the Indians seem to look upon Bonnemort and Kluger as benefactors. 'Hlyu skookum Boston men,' they call the rescuers."

"B. & K. are taking the bulk of the clean-up," Seymour told her. "I watched the divvy when they stripped the sluices out front this morning."

"But that doesn't seem possible," Molra protested. "I hear from two of my most trusted klootchmen that the Indians are given all the gold."

Seymour seemed not to have heard. He was crossing to the front of the wall tent where, beneath the table, he had sighted a sack exactly like the treasure-weighted one he had seen the partners carry from the creek. But if this was the same, it had been emptied.

"All the gold, I said," repeated the girl, impatient at his seeming lack of attention to her astonishing report. "What do you make of that, Sergeant Searlet?"

"I'll say that is right kind and unbelievably generous of B. & K. and that a right lively surprise is awaiting my Irish when I get her out of jeopardy."

The sergeant had upturned the sack and was shaking it. A single jagged lump, evidently held in the fabric when the sack had been dumped, thudded to the ground. Both leaned over to examine it. The girl straightened first.

"More of that old frog-gold," she said with another low, aggravating laugh.

Seymour picked up the specimen. It was of the same grayish, metallic substance as the hand-shaped piece which Molra had given him at the mission. This one, however, held no yellow offering.

"Richer than gold!" In thought, Seymour murmured Bart's exclamation of promise to Mrs. Caswell. He believed that at last he knew the answer to one part of the Glacier Creek riddle. But he said nothing to the girl about his hopes as he pocketed the fragment.

"You said the Siwash would tell you which of the two men rode away from the gulch, the morning of the murder," he reminded her. "Did they?"

CONSTIPATED CHILDREN

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of childhood and the child suffering from it positively cannot thrive. To keep the little one well the bowels must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. To do this nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative; are pleasant to take and can be given to the newborn babe with perfect safety. Thousands of mothers use no other medicine for their little ones but Baby's Own Tablets. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LITTLE HELPS FOR THIS WEEK

There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man; but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way of escape, that ye may be able to bear it.—I. Cor. x, 13.

Be it good or ill, be it what you will, it needs must help me on my road, My rugged way to heaven, please God.
—Christina G. Rossetti

God help you to do something more than to resist your temptation. God help you to do something more than simply to come down as if you had resisted an enemy. God help you to come forth not merely strong, but stronger; not merely having kept the strength you have, but filled with a new and inspiring strength, which subsists in these three great things which have taken possession of your soul—your consciousness that God is over you, that the power of God is in you, and that every one led into temptation is the child of God.
—Phillips Brooks.

Two famous astronomers from the Ruman Observatory at Nikolalev on the Black Sea have been for some time in England supervising the construction of the various sections of what will eventually be the largest refracting telescope in the world. The refractor, 42 inches in diameter is being manufactured at a famous optical glass works at Derby, while other mechanical parts are being made at St. Albans. The telescope will cost $75,000. It contains a mirror 8 1/2 inches thick, which, weighing nearly 1,000 lb., took more than a year of grinding and polishing to make. The refractor is being made specially strong for the most accurate work.

Want Duty Cut On Automobiles

Delegations Make Representations to the Government at Ottawa

Representations are being made to the government from various sources and deputations have been at Ottawa specifically asking a reduction in the duty on motor vehicles or at least the elimination of the sales tax. The duty on both passenger cars and trucks is now 35 per cent, the excise tax being additional. Prices on the same cars made in the United States and Canada are claimed to show a marked disparity in favor of the former and in view of the extent to which such vehicles are utilized, it is desired to have this difference modified.

Canada has become a very large exporter of motor cars. It is not sought to do away with the protection but either to modify it or cut out the excise taxes so that prices in the two countries may be more similar. Any action by the government would be only at the time of the budget.

Prediction that the majority of surgical operations in the future will be performed while the patient is conscious was made before a recent medical convention. By "blocking" the nerve group that controls the part of the body to be operated upon through the agency of a local anesthetic, it was said that pain would be eliminated without the necessity of putting the patient to sleep. Considerable research work in nerve blocking has already been done, and certain major operations have already been performed.

NOVEMBER 30

THE GOOD SAMARITAN

Golden Text: Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself. Luke 10:27.

Lesson: Luke 10:25-57.

Devotional Reading: I. John 4:7-21.

The Text Explained and Illumined

The Law of Love to God and Man, verses 25-28. One time a scribe, an expert student and expounder of the Hebrew law, sought to test Jesus' knowledge of the law by asking him a hard question. "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" was his question, and by it he meant, What acts, such as fasts and prayers and sacrifices, would have special merit and would therefore be rewarded by life eternal? "What is written in the law? How readest thou?"—thus Jesus bade the scribe answer his own question. The scribe then quoted Deuteronomy 6:5 and Leviticus 19:18: Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind (i.e., with all thy powers); and thy neighbor as thyself. That Jesus united to two, love for God and love for one's neighbor, is not surprising, but that the lawyer did so causes one to surmise that it was brought about by some remark of Jesus which was not recorded. "Thou has answered right: this do, and thou shalt live," returned Jesus.

"Oh, runs not thus the lesson thou has taught?"

When life's all love, 'tis life; aught else, 'tis naught" (Lanier). "When it means to love man, the parable that follows explains, but what does it mean to love God? Dr. Frederick W. Robertson says that it can mean only one thing: God is character, and to love God is to love character. For instance, God is Purity, and to be pure is to love God. God is Love, and to love men is to love God. God is Truth, and to live a brave, true, real life, that is to love God. So Whittier in one of his letters wrote: "I have no consciousness of loving God as a Person or Power apart from his attributes. I have no experience of ecstatic emotions, but I know that I love goodness and mercy, charity and peace; that my soul longs for harmony and moral symmetry; that I would sooner wrong myself than my neighbor; and, at times, the sweet sense of an infinite love overwhelms me and fills me with gratitude and thanksgiving."

U.S. Dreadnought To Be Destroyed Under Disarmament Programme

With the last effort to save her from destruction dismissed by the supreme court of the district of Columbia, the super-dreadnought Washington, that was three-quarters completed, was towed from the Philadelphia navy yard by five tugs for a point fifty miles off the Virginia Capes where she will serve as a target in naval experiments. The ship was doomed to be destroyed as a result of the Washington conference.

Her destruction, it is said, will mark completion by the United States of the disarmament programme.

Cheapest of all Oils.—Considering the qualities of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil it is the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public. It is to be found in every drug store in Canada from coast to coast and all country merchants keep it for sale. So, being easily procurable and extremely moderate in price, no one should be without a bottle of it.

New Style Of Plane

Claims Air Bicycle Is Made Possible By New Invention

An air bicycle which will enable man to fly with less effort than required for walking is probable as the result of the invention of a new propeller which, it is claimed, dispenses with the aeroplane motor and can be run by manpower alone. Major Pilsarski, of Vienna, is the inventor.

His propeller is called a "wing propeller," the wings being supposed to vibrate and grip the air much more effectively than the rotating blade propeller.

"The motor car," he says in a news-a motorboat at Vienna and shows effectiveness in water which is too shallow for regular propellers.

A German company has been formed with a capital of 1,000,000 gold marks for production of motorboats and aeroplanes equipped with the new propellers.

orphanage centres, but make their little go as far as possible to the best advantage by contributing what can be spared for the mothers of those families who are in the most desperate straits. With this help they give what is far greater —real love and understanding, and the assurance that His love is sufficient for even their sore trials.

Familiar, through long years of service, with great and highly organized relief agencies of the work. The workers, living simply with no overhead expenses, the funds coming directly with no other charges than postage and the printing of their simple, personally edited publicity, and the money spent prayerfully. I feel deeply moved to tell the trusting Christian friends who are supporting this little band of workers, Mr.
and Mrs. Eby and Miss Bowman of Damascus, that I have the utmost faith that every dollar of support given them is spent with the tender compassion of Christ's love, and carries with it the Message of Life that lifts the recipient above the hopelessness of the suffering of the moment.

This little band of workers will make their influence felt by the Moslem too, to the Moslem Christianity is seemingly not practised by those who profess it. All who are not Moslem or Jew, he classes as Christians, and judges our wonderful religion by the conduct of un-godly people. He has seen so-called Christian nations betray one-another treacherously, shedding the blood of their own brothers.
He has played upon their cupidity for centuries as they have striven against one another diplomatically for commercial concessions, until he holds them in contempt. Occasionally he comes in contact with real, practising Christians, and is compelled to revise his opinion.
The influence of such Christian workers as I found in Damascus is what is needed in the Orient if the Moslem world is to get a right conception of Christianity. I do not fear for the lives of this little band. With Christ one can go anywhere, and through Him all things are possible.
